"I AM."

THY WILL BE DONE.

I am the Door;
None other can there be.
He who would enter heaven
Must come by Me.
I suffered death, and bore
Sin's weight.
I am the Door.

I am the Way,
The only way to heaven.
He who would journey thence
Must be forgiven.
My cross, by night, by day,
Proclaims
I am the Way.

I am the Truth.
Canst thou My Word receive?
"The Truth shall make thee free,"
And thou shalt live.
For old age, and for youth,
For all,
I am the Truth.

And I am Light.
I manifest man's sin;
And when he owns his state,
I enter in.
Where darkness was, the bright
Light shines.
I am the Light.

And I am Love.
I shed on Calvary
My own life's blood to wash
Man's sin away.
Yea, 'twas his need did move
My heart,
For I am Love.

Yea, I am Life.
Who trusts in Me, I'll give Him life. "Though he were dead,
Yet shall he live."
Here endeth death and strife:
For aye
I am the Life.

—Lutheran Witness.

Faith in our Redeemer is always attended by an utter distrust of self, and a consequent implicit confidence in His will, whom it owns as King over all, and whose gracious dominion it would fain have acknowledged by all. His will is perceived to be alone good and holy and salutary, and the child of God is therefore desirous that it alone should be done. And because he knows that it is not done in all places, because he knows that it is not even done by himself as he wishes to do it and to have it done, he prays, "Thy will be done." Our great object as children of the Highest, is the glory of our Father's name, and this can never be effected unless His kingdom first come and make us true subjects, giving us the spirit of adoption. But this kingdom is necessarily rejected unless we permit our wills to be conformed to His, that He may be King indeed. For such conformity we ask in this present petition, which is perhaps the most difficult of all to pray aright, inasmuch as it involves a stern self-abnegation and crucifixion of the flesh: for it is mere mockery to pray that God's will may be done when we refuse to resign our own, which stands in the way of its accomplishment.

We ask that God's will may be done. This admits of no limitation whatever. It is a prayer neither that God may accomplish His good pleasure only so far as it coincides with ours, which would in reality be praying that our own will might be done, nor that His will as revealed merely in the law, or exclusively as it is revealed in the Gospel may be done, but that it may be done in all respects. His holy will is one and our subjection to it is one: we hold not the will of God when we embrace a part and renounce a part; we obey not when we comply with some precepts but disregard others which are equally expressive of His will. "Whosoever shall keep the whole law, and yet offend in one point, he is guilty of all. For he that said: do not commit adultery, said also: do not kill. Now if thou commit no adultery, yet if thou kill, thou art become a transgressor of the law." James 2, 10. 11. What is said thus of the moral law manifestly applies to the whole divine will, which is opposed just as much by rebellion against it when indicated in Providence, as it is by scorning it when declared in the decalogue,—which is renounced just as fully if we reject the divinely appointed means of grace as if we despised the moral order of the whole law. And if the will of God as revealed in the glorious plan of salvation by faith in a crucified and risen Redeemer, is made more prominent in all evangelical teaching than the same will so far as revealed in the moral law, it is not because the latter is not equally divine and worthy of reverence, but because the former alone shows us how we can be saved, now that we cannot keep the moral law, and how we can be brought into the way of obedience in all things. It is the divine will that we should be saved, and this salvation is offered us in the Gospel. If this will is not rejected through unbelief, we have remission of sins richly and daily. But contempt of His will as revealed in the law for the government of our lives implies the rejection of His will as given in the Gospel for our salvation. Hence our petition asks for grace to believe, to do, and to suffer God's will in all respects.

Thus it is a prayer for submission to His good pleasure as revealed in the Gospel. "For God so loved the world that He gave His only-begotten Son, that whosoever believeth in Him should not perish but have everlasting life." "And this is the will of Him that sent me, that everyone that seeth the Son and believeth on Him may have everlasting life." John 3, 16; 6, 40. If this saving will is not done, all prayers and labors are vain; for though we strain every nerve to fulfill all righteousness in our own strength, yet will God's will not be done in any particular whilst we remain in unbelief. For without Christ we can do nothing, and he that believeth not shall be damned. John 15, 5; Mark 16, 16. God's will is that all men should be saved by coming to the knowledge of the truth, and our prayer in this regard consequently is that this salvation may be ours.

Hence it implies the request that God would incline us to use the appointed means of grace. In the second petition we pray that God would mercifully give us these; in this we pray that they may not be rendered of none effect to us by our unbelief when they are given. They have, of course, no effect upon us when we neglect to use them at all. We pray that Satan may not induce us to neglect them as thousands do. There are some who seem very scrupulous in the practice of that general morality which the law prescribes, but who are perfect indifferentists in regard to all those ordinances whose purpose it is to bestow upon us the strength by which alone we can do God's will. Some remain unbaptized until they think death is approaching; some absent themselves from the house of God for weeks and even months; some neglect the Holy Supper for months and even years—to say nothing of those who deem these means of grace useless—and never think that their neglect is a grievous sin, because it not only disobeys a divine command but also disregards a gracious offer of blessings which cannot be otherwise received.

Such persons, in reply to remonstrances with them on account of their delinquencies in this respect, are ever ready with appeals to their moral deportment in proof of their Christian character. But they have not even acknowledged the obligation of the law, much less have they fled for refuge from its curse to the Gospel; for if they acknowledged the divine law they would at least use the means of grace as a legal work if not as an evangelical privilege. But this would be far from using them in their true character as divinely appointed means to effect a blessed end, namely man's salvation. The Word of God represents them as gracious channels for the reception of blessing which we should learn to consider it mercy that we are permitted to receive and the neglect of which is our own great loss. Against that negligence of these means which is so frequent among us and which is an offspring of that self-righteousness which can see no need for any means of grace at all, since nature is regarded as all-sufficient to raise men up to heaven without grace, and which therefore treats the passages of Scripture extending to us that privilege and urging upon us the duty of using them, as mere recommendations of things indifferent in themselves, this petition is directed. And in this sense we are to pray it all the more earnestly, because temptations to set aside these means beset us on every hand. Our flesh in its pride deems them needless; the world in its wisdom deems them unavailing; the devil in his malignity deems them injurious. There are many who do not use these means whom we must admit to be good citizens, and the devil and the world and the flesh do not grow weary in referring to them as evidence that we can be good enough without using them, just as good as those who use them and even better. "Thy will be done" must mean, in opposition to all such delusions: "Save me, Lord, by Thy grace, according to Thy will, through the appointed means, and let me not be seduced into the belief that my own efforts will save me without salvation which is in Jesus and which is in Thy holy word and holy sacraments."

* * * *

Our petition is therefore an earnest entreaty that God would not only incline us to use His means of grace, but that He would give us faith always to appropriate the great blessings of which they are the appointed channels, that thus we may go on from strength to strength and thus His will may be done in the salvation of our bloodbought souls.

REV. PROF. M. LOY, D. D.,
In Christian Prayer.

THE HOLY COMMUNION.

According to the correct definition of a sacrament there are but two sacraments in the New Testament. These are Baptism and the Holy Communion. It is of the latter that this article treats.

Besides Holy Communion the second sacrament of the New Testament is also called the Lord's Supper, the Sacrament of the Altar, the Eucharist, the Lord's Table, the Holy Supper, and the Breaking of Bread. This multiplicity of names is itself an indication of the importance which the Church has attached to this sacrament.

Luther in the Small Catechism thus defines the Sacrament of the Altar: "It is the true body and blood of our Lord Jesus Christ, under the bread and wine, for us Christians to eat and to drink, instituted by Christ Himself." Accordingly it contains two kinds of elements which are designated as the earthly and the heavenly. The earthly are bread and wine; the bread consisting of flour and water properly baked, and the wine, of the fruit of the grape vine. The heavenly are the true body and blood of our Lord Jesus Christ. The reason why the word true is used is because it serves to emphasize the fact contained in the Savior's words: "This is my body which is given for you;" "This cup is the new testament in my blood which is shed for you." It was not a sign or symbol of Christ's body which was given for us on the cross, nor a sign or symbol of the Savior's blood which was shed for us, but His real body and His real blood were given and shed for us for the remission of sins.

The proof for the doctrine of the Holy Communion rests on the words of the institution as found in the Gospels of Matthew, Mark, and Luke and the first Epistle of St. Paul to the Corinthians. As given in our Catechism these words read: "Our Lord Jesus Christ, the same night in which He was betrayed, took bread; and when He had given thanks, He brake it, and gave it

His disciples and said, Take, eat; this is my body which is given for you: this do in remembrance of me. After the same manner also He took the cup, when He had supped, gave thanks and gave it to them, saying, Take, drink ye all of it; this cup is the new testament in my blood, which is shed for you for the remission of sins: this do ye, as oft as ye drink it in remembrance of me." These being the words of the Savior's last will and testament, they are to be understood and explained as conveying the very things to which they refer; namely, His body and blood in, with, and under the bread and wine. This is very clearly done in the confessions of our Church. Article X of the Augsburg Confession says: "Of the supper of the Lord they teach that the true body and blood of Christ are truly present and are communicated to those that eat in the Lord's Supper." In the Epitome of the Formula of Concord, Article VII, it is said: We believe, teach, and confess that in the Holy Supper the body and blood of Christ are truly and essentially present, and are truly distributed and received with the bread and wine." As to the consecration, we believe, teach, and confess that no work of man or de-secration of the minister produces this presence of the body and blood of Christ in the Holy Supper, but that this should be ascribed only and alone to the almighty power of our Lord Jesus Christ." In 1 Corinthians 10, 16 St. Paul asks, and his question involves its own answer: "The cup of blessing which we bless, is it not the communion of the blood of Christ? The bread which we break, is it not the communion of the body of Christ?" And in the following chapter he says: "Wherefore whosoever shall eat this bread and drink this cup of the Lord unworthily, shall be guilty of the body and blood of the Lord." These passages prove clearly that the body and blood of Christ are present with the bread and the wine in the celebration of the Holy Communion. The union between the earthly and the heavenly elements is called a sacramental union. It is not like the union of the divine and human natures in Christ, nor is it like the union of the two gases that form air, nor is it like the union of citizens who form a commonwealth or a nation, nor is it like any other union that implies a permanent conjunction; it is unique in character and continues only as long as the Communion is celebrated, that is, from the consecration of the elements until all have communed. From the sacramental union it follows that whoever receives the bread and the wine in the Holy Supper receives also the body and blood of Christ. While the earthly and the heavenly elements are both received orally, the heavenly are eaten and drunk in a heavenly manner while the bread and wine are eaten and drunk in a natural manner. The sacramental eating and drinking of the body and blood of Jesus is done in a heavenly, mysterious, and incomprehensible manner, but differs from the spiritual, which is done by faith, is always unto salvation, never unto condemnation, and takes place continually and is absolutely necessary for all Christians.

As to the benefits of the sacramental eating and drinking, our Catechism says: "That is shown us by these words, 'Given and shed for you for the remission of sins;' namely that in the Sacrament forgiveness of sins, life, and salvation are given us through these words. For where there is forgiveness of sin, there is also life and salvation." This means that whoever receives the Holy Communion and believes the words which Jesus used concerning His body and blood has what they say and express, even the forgiveness of sins. Faith in the Savior's words is the condition on which the Sacrament is worthily received. Whoever does not believe His words is unworthy and unprepared; for the words "for you" require truly believing hearts. These two little words certify each communicant that for him also the body and blood of Christ with all their benefits were offered.

When we speak of the necessity of faith that faith is necessary to produce the presence of the body and blood of Jesus in the Sacrament, for that presence is not produced by the faith or power of man but by the almighty power of Christ Himself. Faith does not belong to the essence but to the salutary use of the Sacrament. When the Sacrament is celebrated according to Christ's command, His body and blood are present and received by all communicants, but the benefits thereof are enjoyed by those only who truly believe.

As for the doctrine of the Holy Communion, there exist three distinct forms, known as the Lutheran, the Reformed, and the Roman and Greek Catholic. According to the last the bread and wine are changed into the body and blood of Christ by the consecration, so that only the latter are present in the Sacrament. According to the Reformed there is nothing present but bread and wine as well after as before the consecration. According to the Lutheran both bread and wine and also the body and blood of Christ are truly present after the consecration and during the celebration of the Sacrament. At the same time there is no consubstantiation of the elements but a sacramental union of them. The Lutheran doctrine rejects any and every substantial change of the elements under whatever name it may be designated, be it consubstantiation, impanation, subpanation, or transubstantiation. By rejecting the last we also most decidedly reject the Romish doctrine of the sacrifice of the mass and the withholding of the cup from the laity. The sacrifice of the mass is in direct conflict with the institution of Christ, which is for the living, not for the dead. It is also in conflict with the doctrine of Holy Writ that since Christ offered His life upon the cross there is no more offering for sin. The withholding of the cup from the laity is in direct opposition to the words of Jesus: "Drink ye all of it." Accordingly at the institution of the Holy Supper all the disciples drank of the cup.

A careful examination of our doctrine will convince any fairminded man that it is in strict harmony with the Word of God. Any departure from it is due not to any passage in that Word but to the objections of human reason or to the influence of human speculation. But neither human reason nor human speculation is the source of divine truth unto salvation. "If ye continue in my Word," says our Savior, "then are ye my disciples indeed; and ye shall know the truth and the truth shall make you free." It was not the compelling force of Christ's words that produced the Reformed doctrine concerning the Holy Communion. It was the compelling force of Christ's words that produced the Lutheran doctrine and made it necessary to reject the Reformed as well as the Roman and Greek Catholic doctrine. We are convinced that a strict and reverent adherence to the Word of God will lead to the acceptance of our doctrine here as well as all the other doctrines that are taught and defended in the confessions of our Church.

PEACE.

By Rev. John W. Horine, D.D.

Henry Drummond said that love is the greatest thing in the world. So said also an apostle, who declared that love is greater than faith, greater than hope; but nowhere does he compare its greatness with the greatness of peace. One cannot help wondering what his estimate would have been had peace been brought into comparison. For it is not too much to say that peace is the aim and end of the Gospel. It is called the "Gospel of peace"; and the Old Testament rejoiced to foretell the peace of the New, when it declared of the promised Redeemer that "of the increase of His government and peace there shall be no end;" that He shall "speak peace to His people"; that He shall "bless His people with peace" and that they shall have "abundance of peace so long as the moon endureth."

Zacharias, on the threshold of the New Testament, catches the note and continues the strain when he declares of the infant John that he shall be God's messenger to His people to "guide their feet into the way of peace." It is the note struck in full chord by the heavenly chorus on the night of the Savior's birth: "Glory to God in the highest, and on earth peace, good will to men"; and it is the note sounded more feebly but not less joyfully by the aged Simeon when he takes the infant Redeemer into his arms, blesses God and says: "Lord, now lettest Thou Thy servant depart in peace, according to Thy word; for mine eyes have seen Thy salvation."

That salvation—salvation from sin and guilt, from death and the grave,—was secured by Jesus Christ both by His obedient and innocent life and by His atoning sufferings and death. He became the sinner's peace, and His peace He gave and gives into the hand of faith: "therefore being justified by faith we have peace with God through our Lord Jesus Christ." For He not only made our peace with God, but He also bestowed the blessing of peace upon believers so that it became their most precious personal experience and possession. Therefore it was that, having been delivered for our offences and raised again for our justification, the first words of the risen Savior to His disciples were, "Peace be unto you"; and therefore it was that they went everywhere "preaching peace by Jesus Christ," which was nothing else than the Gospel of the forgiveness of sins and restored fellowship with God.

Even before His sacrificial death and glorious resurrection—and, indeed, with a view to them and the blessings which should follow—Jesus had given to His disciples the promise: "Peace I leave with you, my peace I give unto you: not as the world giveth, give I unto you.

Let not your heart be troubled, neither let it be afraid." "My peace,"—be it noted! "He has had peace in the world, in spite of sorrow and temptation: perfect peace through faith. They, too, shall have such peace of mind and heart in the midst of tribulation. The world can neither understand nor impart such peace, the only peace it knows anything about being that connected with prosperity, which trouble can destroy as easily as a breath of wind agitates the calm surface of the sea." But there is a peace which is independent of outward circumstances, an inward peace arising from implicit faith in a heavenly Father's infinite wisdom and power and love and care; and when the Lord had made reconciliation and His disciples had received the Spirit of adoption and were sure and secure in their sonship and heirship, such was their absolute confidence in their God and Father that their Master's promise was actually fulfilled and literally realized. In the world they found much tribulation, but in the midst of it all they enjoyed perfect peace. In everything, by prayer and supplication, with thanksgiving, they made their requests known unto God; and the peace of God which passeth understanding did verily keep their hearts and minds in Christ Jesus.

Especially was Saint Paul persecuted and harassed but it was he especially who made peace the dominant note of the Gospel. He designates it "the Gospel of peace" and calls Christ "the Lord of peace;" and in the opening verses of all his epistles there stands the greeting, "Peace from God the Father, and from the Lord Jesus Christ." Nor had He alone found this hidden treasure and realized to the full its inestimable worth. His fellow-disciples shared in the same blissful experience, and in their epistles—in those of Peter and John and James—where God is twice defined as "love" and is once called "the God of love," He is six times called "the God of peace."

So also in the Service of the Church the blessing of peace is the motif throughout. After the sermon the minister says to the congregation: "The Peace of God, which passeth all understanding, keep your hearts and minds through Christ Jesus;" and the congregation is dismissed with the benediction which concludes with the words: "The Lord lift up His countenance upon thee, and give thee peace."

This fact is highly significant. It signifies, in the first place, that such peace is one of the great, yea, the very greatest things. No other kind of peace can properly be compared with it, not even outward, national peace, such as descends on a world which has been at war. This peace of heart and soul and very spirit is transcendent and supreme. And it signifies, in the second place, the greatness of man's need. It is a universal need, for all are sinners, and it becomes the deepest need as soon as there is conviction of sin. The apostle's agonizing outcry, "O wretched man that I am! Who shall deliver me from the body of this death?" receives the immediate and confident answer of faith: "I thank God through Jesus Christ our Lord." Through Him is deliverance from sin and deliverance from sin brings the blessing of peace.

This blessing of peace, so unspeakably great, the believer already now has. It does not await him in heaven. It is not a future possession, a thing to be hoped for. It is a thing to be experienced and enjoyed now and here. It is true that it is sometimes said of those who have died in the Lord that they are "at peace" or that they have "entered into peace." But a search of the Scriptures fails to discover any language that would justify the expression. Believers depart in peace, in a peace which is already theirs; a peace in which they have lived unto the Lord and in which they now die unto Him. The peace of the Lord is for this life, where it is needed most, not for the life to come where the former things of sin and sorrow and pain and death have passed away. Therefore it is that the apostle's every prayer for peace is—and every believer's prayer should be—for his life in this world—"on earth peace"—that in peace he may depart and enter into rest and the joy of the Lord.

Peace, perfect peace, in this dark world of sin?

The Blood of Jesus whispers peace within.

AFTER THE WAR—WHAT?

This is a question which is on the lips of all thinking people. An upheaval in the world's affairs in their customary movements like the present World War cannot but so unsettle the whole range of man's activities, the sphere of his thinking, and the relation of man to man, that thinking men may well ask themselves the question: After the War—What?

A war like the present upsets all the calculations and plans of men made for a generation and tears up by the roots the very foundations of society. The things that make for the welfare of mankind, the occupations and activities that build up and bring the human race to a higher plane, must in a large measure be laid aside for the time being and give way to the one topic of the war and how to bring it to a victorious close. In spite of the fact that in certain quarters war has been declared as necessary for progress and for keeping nations from decay and disintegration, the most of us have not so bowed to the god of war as to espouse such principles and teachings. We know from the great wars of history what the baneful effects have been. War shatters the great landmarks of civilization. And were it not for the guiding hand of God, which says so far and no farther, we might well despair of the outcome.

It is this fact that has caused far-seeing men like our great President to urge our people to conserve even now during the period of the war all the higher interests of the race, to make use of all the educational, moral, and religious forces of our land to check the forces of destruction and to prepare for the period of reconstruction that must come after the close of the war. You will remember with what earnestness our people have been urged not to neglect the education of the youth of our land during the war, in order that we may not lack in men equipped for leadership when the time of rebuilding comes. You will remember how our young men have been urged to continue their college training in order to be ready for the call for higher service when the time for such service arrives. This and more is what our far-seeing men are urging upon us, and wise are we if we fail not to heed the advice given.

This advice, however, has reference chiefly to the welfare of our nation so far as its material and humanitarian interests are concerned. What about our spiritual interests, what about the work of the church? These are questions that force themselves upon us as Christians in a much higher measure than any material interests, important as the latter are even in their bearing upon the former. The church must not only carry on her work as she has in the past but she must add new zeal and put forth more energy in times like these in order that the powers of destruction may accomplish as little as possible; but she must plan for the future also.

While war perhaps awakens the consciences of some, it is in general not a friend of religion, and does not further the work of the church. Indeed we are experiencing in this war in a larger measure than ever before what an added burden it lays upon the ordinary work that the church has to do. I need not go into detail here. To make mention of the difficulty of carrying on our mission work, home and foreign, and of the added expense which such times entail is sufficient to prove the assertion. Yes, the war adds burdens to the work of the kingdom of God even now. We must meet them and in general, I believe, Christian people are meeting them.

However in the duties of the present let us not forget what will lie before us after the war has come to an end, and prepare as much as possible to meet those problems. We are perhaps not able to foresee all the problems that will meet us. We have never passed through such an experience before and cannot know what all is before us. But some things we can foresee and the question is, will we be ready to meet the difficulties when they come?

At the close of the war thousands, perhaps millions of men, will return to take up their work in our midst. Of these, large numbers will be our boys, members of the Lutheran church. During their absence they have been exposed to the loose living that invariably goes with army life. Let us hope that not many of them will be carried away by this maelstrom of sin and wickedness to the eternal condemnation of their souls. Let us hope that the religious training and influences of early life will keep them from such an end. But we must realize that their moral standards will not be raised by the experiences of soldier life. Again the fact that they have been removed from the influences of their own church and thrown into an atmosphere of indifference to distinctive religious teaching, cannot but have a tendency to undermine religious convictions and create indifference to the doctrines of our holy faith. If we are to be ready to meet this condition, we must deepen our own convictions in its truth. In this period of stress and waiting, we must study the Word as never before, pray the Holy Spirit to open our eyes to see and our ears to hear His truth, brand it indelibly upon our hearts and minds, and be so convinced of the truth of the doctrines which we profess that though all else fail we will abide in it and proclaim it ever.

When our boys come home these two conditions of which I have spoken will call for men firmly grounded in the faith, men of heroic build and character and plenty of them. In that day it seems to me our church will need to emphasize the principles of the Reformation as courageously and unflinchingly as Luther did, if in that day our own people are not to be led into the spirit of liberalism which characterizes so much of the Christianity of the present. The battle for confessional Lutheranism will be on. Let us pray the Lord to prepare us now that we may not fail when the time of trial comes.

Again when our boys come home and when the doors to the world's mission fields will again be open, we shall need men as never before. I hope that our Lutheran people will awake to a realization of this fact and also to the fact that now is the time to prepare these men. Candidates for the Gospel ministry are not prepared for their work in a year or two, it takes years. If there ever came a call to the fathers and mothers of our church in this land to give up their sons for the Gospel ministry it is now. If ever the halls of our colleges and seminaries needed to be filled to overflowing with men who want to devote their lives to the ministry, it is now. And yet I feel sure that the faculty of every one of our church institutions is looking forward with some fear and trembling on this matter of attendance and expects that there will be a great falling off. It seems to me that the American Lutheran Church is destined in the providence of God to be the bearer of its distinctive heritage to the world at the close of this war. That call will come to us with especial force in this land in which so many voices are heard in opposition to her teaching. If we are not to fall short of our duty, our fathers and mothers must be willing like Hannah of old to dedicate their sons to the Lord and to the work of His church. May in these times of trial the consciousness of such a duty be awakened in the heart of many a father and mother among our Lutheran people. May there be no falling off in the number of candidates for the ministry in our church institutions. Then will we at the close of the war be able to meet the call for laborers in the vineyard of the Lord.

After the war—what? These are a few things that we must prepare for; thoughtful men will think of others.

Merciful Father for Jesus' sake, work in us repentance for past sins and shortcomings, fill us with a firmer faith in Thy promises, and renew in us zeal for Thy house and the extension of Thy kingdom.

THE CHURCH COLLEGE.

In a country like ours, a country in which the people rule, the education of the masses is an absolute necessity. Schools must be established for at least an elementary education of all its people. This is necessary for an intelligent electorate to choose representatives for the administration of the affairs of the government.

But such an education is not all that is needed. If there is any land in which there is a necessity for higher education it is in a republic. It is not surprising therefore that colleges and universities have sprung up all over our land to meet this necessity. Every state has felt this need and has established one or more schools within its bounds for the higher education of its children. However the great body of the colleges of the land are the children of the church, founded for religious purposes and maintained and supported by the church.

The question of the necessity of these institutions is often propounded. Have they a legitimate field of operation or should the higher education of our young people be handed over to the state? We purpose to give here a few reasons that justify, yea make imperative, the continuation, support, and patronage of these children of the church. Space will not allow a full discussion of the subject.

The fact that man is a religious being has been recognized by practically every people of the earth. As a result practically every educational system of the world has been permeated by the religious element. If then the convictions of men in their natural state led them thus to enthrone religion, how much more should not the enlightened consciousness of a Christian people recognize its importance in the education offered by our schools and colleges. Knowledge alone un sanctified by religion may only make a great villain. The principles of anarchy are not so dangerous in the hands of the illiterate; they only become such when proclaimed by men of trained minds. Many years ago a British statesman warned his countrymen of the danger of educating the intellect without the conscience. He saw in such an education the future downfall of the kingdom. In a republic like our own it is even more dangerous.

Sometimes it is said that this calls for moral instruction in our schools and not for religion. But have not the Washingtons and Jacksons and Websters warned us "to beware of the thought that morality will long exist without religion?" General Jackson, pointing to the Bible shortly before his death, said: "That Book, Sir, is the rock upon which our Republic rests—it is the bulwark of our free institutions." Words more true were never spoken by man and few of such supreme importance. Any system of morality for a nation that is not based on the religion of Jesus Christ will be found wanting. The truth of this statement stands out very clearly in the present world war. For the regulation of conduct in organized society we must apply those great moral principles that have come from Christianity and are accepted by Christian people. For the perpetuity of the Republic and the safety of our people we need the college of the church.

It is the privilege, it is the duty of the college so to draw out the faculties of the student that the individual may stand out a complete and well-rounded man or woman. For such a purpose it is maintained. In the present age there is no danger that the intellectual side will be forgotten; but, as already stated, the majority of colleges are the children of the church and are founded not for secular but for Christian education. The spirit that rules there is the Christian spirit. The work is done for God and learning, and the principles that guide in all the teaching are the fundamental principles of Christianity.

It is the special joy but also the special responsibility of the college to have the youth in the years when the mind is ripening and the character is taking permanent shape. It is the joy of the college to see the mind grow under the sunshine scattered abroad from its walls; but it is also a special responsibility, for mind and character once formed and ripened, it may be for good or it may be for evil, are practically fixed for life. It is the joy of the Christian college to know that through it a Christian culture is brought to bear upon men and women entering the most varied callings of life and that thereby these young people are destined to lead all classes and grades of society; but it is also its responsibility to make its light shine that the name of God may be glorified in the hearts and lives of those who bask beneath its rays. What streams of blessedness for the lands of the earth have had their rise in the religious influences of our Christian colleges during the centuries that are past!

On the other hand what a baneful influence has often been exerted on the lives and character of those who have spent their college days in institutions in which the Gospel found no place. It has by no means infrequently happened that devout and Christian parents have sent their son to college with the hope that after a few years he will return, his mind stored with knowledge and a firmer Christian than before, to help them forward on life's difficult pathway and to be their stay and comfort in their declining years,—it has not been uncommon, I say, for such parents to receive back their child, perhaps an intellectual prodigy, but utterly devoid of all reverence for holy things, for what is noble and good and true. O the bitterness of such a return! Said another: "College learning is good, but not all the learning of the Universities of Europe can compensate for the loss of that which a youth reared in a religious home has learned in childhood at his mother's knee." How sadly wanting is such an education!

Christianity in a college has an influence on the activity of the college itself. What other principle can be found to regulate and control the spirit of youth, to fill the institution with the spirit of law and order, of courtesy and refinement, of deep reverence for all that is noble and good, than the holy religion of our Savior? Its absence leaves the young to drift they know not where; its presence is a continual check and guide. Its absence removes the most potent restraint from riotous conduct; its presence may not remove this altogether but it exercises such a transforming power that the false codes of honor and the like which are transplanted from one institution to another are making way for the more exalted codes of the religion of Jesus.

The Christian character of a school will also show itself in its instructors. Realizing what the college stands for, they will see to it that their teaching is in accord with its aim and object and will seek to breathe the spirit of Christ and Christianity in every lesson of the classroom as well as in their daily walk and conversation. The Christian college will make even its teachers firm in the faith and that is the kind of men under whose tutelage we want to place our young men and women.

Fathers and mothers of the church, you cannot afford to neglect the call of the college of the church when selecting an institution for son or daughter. The spiritual welfare of your child ought to be your first concern, and a Christian education will go a great way towards securing it. Send to the college of your Synod for a catalogue, consider its claims, and place your children under its care and keeping.

A former president of Dartmouth College sums up the matter of the college of the church so well that I shall quote his words as a concluding statement: "We claim a place of honor and power for Christianity and its records in the college. The claim will meet a ready response in the sober convictions of the best and wisest men. Judicious parents will deem such an institution the safest place for their sons. The community will give it their sympathy and confidence. Good men will rally to its support. Its graduates will look back to it with respect and gratitude. The world will turn to it for the lead in what is right and a firm stand against the wrong. It will make itself indispensable. And whatever may be the wealth of Christless institutions, the Christian college will have an unflinching function. It will be a tower of strength in the commonwealth, a light of hope to the nation, and a joy to the world."

CREEDS—WHY HAVE THEM?

The conditions brought about by the present war seem to be emphasizing a tendency of the near past to lay very little stress on Creeds and Confessions. Indeed there are those—and the number is not small—who would decry Creeds and frown down upon all so-called distinctive teaching. "Away with all Creeds," they say, "the Bible is all the Creed we want." Far from it that we should say one word against the claim that the Bible should occupy the highest place possible in everything that is Christian. One of the foundation principles of the Lutheran Reformation was that the Bible is the only rule of faith and life. We will not yield to anyone a higher place for the Word of God than it occupies in the Lutheran Church. The Bible is given by inspiration of God and is the only source and norm for every doctrine that is to be proclaimed upon our pulpits. No word of man, no creed, no decrees of councils, no claims of reason, nor anything else but the Word of God is the Rule of Faith. By this and by this alone we are to be guided and with this will all our teaching accord.

But the Rule of Faith does not do away with the Creed or Confession, and the Christian Church, during a long line of centuries, has recognized this fact, has had her Creeds, and has no intention of casting them aside. Creeds are here to stay although the war has a tendency to sweep them aside and to subordinate all cherished convictions to the desire for external union. An attempt is being made to cast aside all that has been held in the past as God's own truth and ask people to walk together as one whether there is unity or not. But again we say, if the word is the Rule of Faith we cannot do without Creeds.

The word creed means belief; a man's religious belief is his creed. Every sane man has some kind of a belief; it may be much or little, destructive or constructive, but that which he believes is his creed. A man may be an atheist, deist, pagan, Mohammedan, or Christian; his belief constitutes his creed.

When this creed is confessed in words, it becomes a confession. And when a number of men come to the same faith and by their confession become known to each other as children of God, it is quite natural that they should desire to give expression to this fact and have a common confession or creed. This has always been the case in the history of the Christian Church. It was in this way that the Apostle's Creed grew up in the early Christian Church. This was held at that time to be sufficient; but when later differences of opinion arose, it became necessary to be more specific on certain doctrines. It was then that the Nicene and Athanasian Creeds originated. These three have all been recognized as the faith of the whole Christian Church. They are the expression of the faith of Christians over against the heresies as they appeared in the first centuries of the Christian era.

In the days of the Reformation other problems presented themselves. There was a breaking away from the errors that had crept into the church during the Middle Ages. However there was no unanimity in this breaking away, some going farther than others. How was the world to know what a man believed? All made confession of the old Creeds; yet there were differences. By means of creeds or confessions alone could the world know what any man or group of men believed. It is not surprising then that each party expressed itself in documents many of which became regularly acknowledged Confessions of the churches. It was in this way that the Augsburg Confession and later the other Confessions of the Lutheran Church had their origin, as well as the Confessions of other churches. It was the only thing possible with real thinking men. "As the acceptance of the Word of God as the Rule of Faith separates us from the Mohammedan, as the reception of the New Testament sunders us from the Jew, as the hearty acquiescence in the Apostle's, Nicene, and Athanasian Creeds shows us, in the face of all errorists of the earlier ages, to be in the faith of the Church Catholic, so does our unreserved acceptance of the Augsburg Confession mark us as Lutherans; and the acceptance of the Apology, the Catechisms of Luther, the Schmalcald Articles, and the Formula of Concord, continues the work of marking our separation from all errorists of every shade whose doctrines are in conflict with the true sense of the Rule of Faith—that rule whose teachings are rightly interpreted and faithfully embodied in the Confessions afore-mentioned. Therefore, God helping us, we will teach the whole faith of His Word, which faith our Church sets forth, explains, and defends in her Symbols. We do not interpret God's Word by the Creed, neither do we interpret the Creed by God's Word, but interpreting both independently by the laws of language, and finding that they teach one and the same truth, we heartily acknowledge the Confession as a true exhibition of the faith of the Rule—a true witness of the one, pure, and unchanging faith of the Christian Church, and freely make it our own Confession, as truly as if it had been now first uttered by our lips, or had now first gone forth from our hands." (Krauth.)

Creeds then are not intended to take the place of the Bible. In the Lutheran Church, which lays great stress on fidelity to her Confessions, there is, as already stated, the strongest emphasis laid on the Bible as the only book to decide all questions of doctrine. By her Creeds our Church declares her faith to the world, and those who are of that faith can certainly have no fault to find with her on this account. But neither should those outside have reason to find fault with her. She is not ashamed of her Confessions and in them leaves no doubt where she stands. The truth is that those who make war on Creeds and say so much about holding fast to the Bible only, are usually the ones who accept the Bible least of all. Filled with their own peculiar notions, they are opposed to any arrangement that holds to a definite course.

Creeds have grown out of the very life of the Church and will never be set aside. There may be times like the present when a spirit of liberalism will want to do away with them, but there never will come a time when the Church on earth can abolish her Creeds. By these alone can she uphold the unity of the faith. By these alone can Christian men "henceforth be no more children, tossed to and fro, and carried away by every wind of doctrine, by the sleight of men, and cunning craftiness, whereby they lie in wait to deceive." By these alone do we find a way of testifying to those about us that we are what we claim and profess to be. By these alone can our Church shield herself and her children from the teaching of error, for to these does she bind the teachers and preachers in her fold.

Let us then not be led astray by the cry against Creeds. Our Confessions are our glorious heritage. The more we study them, the more shall we find them in perfect accord with the Word, and the more shall we treasure the truths of the Gospel which they proclaim. In the present stress let us be faithful to them.

OUR WATCHWORD OF TODAY—LOYALTY.

An adventurer on starting out on a long journey, if he is a thoughtful man, will always have some definite object in view. He likewise will have some definite means of attaining that object. If the object desired be wealth, his means of attaining that wealth will probably be such as spring from honest motives. If the object be plunder, he will no doubt employ dishonest means to attain that plunder.

So each one of us, as we enter upon our life's journey, are faced by similar problems. No doubt all have some definite object in view in one direction or another. But whatever may be the object, the important problem is, what means shall we employ to secure that object?

One of the means that holds a prominent place in the thought of today for the molding of a successful career, be it that of the individual, the state, or the Church, is loyalty. Loyalty is the watchword of today. This term loyalty is however a broad one. On it has hinged the greatness and folly of kings and emperors, and the glory and humiliation of nations. With loyalty as a mask men have erected many standards for humanity. In our own age commercialism, or the doctrine of gaining all the wealth possible, irrespective as to whether this will ruin a neighbor or not, reigns supreme. Guised with the adage "the world owes me a living", men have forged ahead and filled their pockets with the filthy lucre, have corrupted politics, and undermined national principles. And yet when you confront them, they will brace up and tell you what loyal and patriotic men they really are. Disguised by this same noble principle, another doctrine equally pernicious in its nature yet far more destructive in its results has arisen. This doctrine has recently been brought home to us so closely that it needs no further explanation. It is the doctrine that Might makes Right, with all its horror and ruthlessness. These are not examples of our watchword of today. They are merely gross abuses of it that have resulted from a shameless overvaluation of self and an inconsiderate undervaluation of others.

Loyalty means, in the first place, a proper relation of self to others. It is absolutely necessary that every one recognizes a certain relation to his fellowman. We are all members of society in the broad sense of the word in that the whole human race forms one society. Man is a social being; in all ages men have lived and striven together. They must depend on one another not only for their mutual happiness but even for their very existence. Four hundred years before Christ Aristotle said that "man by nature has a social instinct planted in him," and concludes that "he who is unable to live in society, or has no need of it because he is sufficient for himself, must be either a beast or a god." This principle, firmly acknowledged twenty-five hundred years ago, must be just as firmly maintained today. Man cannot separate himself from the bonds of his fellowman.

What then must be the nature of that proper relation of self to others? Many standards have been laid down in answer. All of these, however, may be classified under two heads: the standard of the world, and the standard of Christ. The first is the principle of him who regards only self in determining his relation to his fellowman. It is the principle that fails to respect the opinions, rights, and privileges of others. The second standard the Savior put in these words: "Thou shalt love thy neighbor as thyself."

These few words constitute the principles upon which the true relation of man to man is founded and in which it has its very existence. It is the cornerstone of every Christian government. It means that we all have certain rights which we may enjoy, and also certain duties which we must perform. It means that we are entitled to life, liberty, and the pursuit of happiness so long as we respect the life, liberty, and happiness of our neighbor. Such an understanding of man to man must necessarily engender a feeling of love between them. It will tend to suppress the feeling of superiority and establish a feeling of equality one toward another. This is loyalty of self to others.

Loyalty means, in the second place, a proper relation of self to ones country. This logically resolves itself into a willingness to serve one's government and determines a nation's weakness or a nation's strength. In this present crisis of universal upheaval, much might be said about patriotism and the true patriot. In fact much is said concerning the citizen's relation to his government and his country. These facts are all known to us and it would be needless repetition to recount them. There are but two points that we must briefly examine in determining our relation to our country.

In the first place we must understand that government is divine. This at first thought appears to be a bold statement. It seems to convey the idea that God created the various governments of the world. Such is not the case. Government is divine in the sense that "it is a necessary condition of the existence of the human race." Proceeding from man's creation, the family, society, and the state were ordained by God. As a result, from the earliest times men have labored together for the purpose of promoting their mutual interests and have organized governments to stand over them, to secure for them their rights, and to impose upon them their duties. In this wise government is a divine institution, conditioned by the divine creation of society.

Since government is essentially divine, it behooves us willingly to serve it. St. Paul says: "Let every soul be subject unto the higher powers. For there is no power but of God; the powers that be are ordained of God." We are therefore to be submissive and obedient to government. O! the ruin and disgrace, O! the humiliation that has fallen upon nations throughout all history, simply because men have not been obedient unto the powers that be. Think of the humiliation Greece suffered at Thermopylæ 2,400 years ago through the treachery of an Ephialtes, since branded as "The Judas of Greece." Consider the treason of Benedict Arnold! which if successful would have divided our strength and possibly destroyed our hope for independence. I need not mention the recent treachery of Bolo Pasha; his perfidy is well known. At present the greatest struggle of all history is being waged. Whether or not we shall bring it to a successful close lies mainly with the ready service and support that we render our government. We have come to the point where we can no longer view this momentous question passively. We can no longer speak and act as individuals; we can no longer take various positions upon this great subject. We cannot, for example, support our government if we attempt to justify or even to excuse the philosophy that Might makes Right, a philosophy at first insidiously concealed but now exposed to and hated by all the world. We cannot claim to be patriotic citizens if we take an indifferent position on the great battle between autoeracy and democracy. As loyal American citizens, having the best interests of our country at heart, we can take but one position: we must speak and act unitedly, as one people and as one nation. This is a world war and the questions and problems involved therein concern the future welfare of mankind. Can we therefore be remiss in our duty? Dare we swerve in our patriotism? It is our highest duty especially in these days to realize what loyalty means. Our watchword of today must embrace this proper relation of self to one's country.

Finally, and as this relation shapes all others, loyalty means a proper relation of self to God. Not only the Christian realizes this, but in the final analysis the man of the world must often acknowledge it. This loyalty manifests itself in humble obedience through faith. As individuals and collectively as a nation, we must realize that there is a just God above who guides and shapes our destinies. Therefore we must be submissive to Him and implore His grace constantly, that He may give us faith and that we may realize our true position in the world.

We are passing through an age of extreme rationalism. When prosperity surrounds on every hand, man's vision is often distorted. He no longer sees things in their natural light. The God of the fathers has been crowded out by the god of luxury and the god of ease. Hence men become sufficient unto themselves, establish their own god, and forget their only true Creator. Vacillation follows, then idleness, voluptuousness, decay, and in the end—ruin. Such is always the result when men forget their God.

When we have come to realize our true position in the world, we must strive to remain in that faith. So long as the people of Israel in faith obeyed the precepts of God, so long were they strong; but when they lost His precepts, then also did they lose their power and strength. So also we, abiding in faith, shall overcome all obstacles. Not physical power or brute force but spiritual power enables men to erect lasting monuments on the sands of time. Luther himself could do nothing; his strength came alone from God. Likewise the early Christians who were cast into the arena at Rome,—how hopeless, how vain appeared their cause! And yet within a few years that power which impelled them showed itself mightier than the wild beasts and the haughty legions of the faithless Nero. And that faith for which they died has been triumphant not only over that land but over the whole world. The hope of our nation, just as the hope of ourselves, is in the Word of God and in the Christ revealed therein.

When faith shall have become so ingrained in the hearts of all mankind that it will even sway councils and potentates; when selfishness shall have been rooted out of the family and brotherly love and affection shall abide; when political frauds and personal interests shall have been purged from our government, and willing service alone shall be man's guiding motive; when at length the world shall have crushed that false philosophy that Might makes Right, and shall again have reinstated the doctrine that Right alone makes Might; when men shall no longer vaunt themselves in haughtiness above God, profane His name, and ignore His works, but shall recognize Him as the only true God, the Author and Finisher of their faith, the Giver of every good and perfect gift;—then will this world again be brought into harmony. No more then shall those fiery flashes burst upon the distant horizon. No longer then shall the heart of man be terrified by the roar of murderous cannon and bursting shell.

Far in the distance my faltering vision beholds the faint glimmer of a new star! As I view it, it becomes brighter and brighter. To me it now appears as a brilliant beacon of hope. To me it heralds the dawning of a new day, a brighter day. I view it more closely, and in its resplendent rays I now behold the word—PEACE! Peace of man towards man! Peace of man towards his country! Peace of man towards his God! Peace in the hearts of all mankind through the reign therein of the Prince of Peace.

SHAKESPEARE AND THE BIBLE.

Some years ago platform utterances and magazine articles on the so-called "absence of religion in Shakespeare" led to a widespread impression that the great dramatist was irreligious or, at least, that his works indicate indifference to the subject of the Christian religion. Nothing could be farther from the truth, and students of Shakespeare at once went to work to investigate and found such an abundance of evidence against the expressed view and such conclusive evidence that it amounts to a revelation. In this investigation there was no intention of affirming that Shakespeare was a theologian or that he set before himself the task of promulgating any special set of doctrines. The poet however, saw that, in portraying the inner soul-life of man, he must present the same truths that are so fully presented in the Bible. And so "he made them manifest in his own great way, sometimes in glimpses, at others, in flames of light."

In this investigation it was found also that the poet drew largely upon the Bible for his loftiest thought and noblest inspiration; that he employed Scripture teaching, facts, poetry, philosophy, and language in his writings; that he was a believer in the revelations of the Word and accepted the orthodox view of the main doctrines of the Christian religion.

When we now proceed to consider this testimony of Shakespeare for the Bible, we are at once overwhelmed with the large field that it covers. Only a glimpse into this field can be given here. A single play like Macbeth or Hamlet has perhaps fifty passages in which there is evident use of Scripture.

The name of God is used in the dramas nearly seven hundred times; and terms of reverence, or exclamation, having reference to God, are found in practically all his plays.

Practically all important Bible characters of the Old and New Testaments are referred to again and again. Bible facts, incidents, places, etc., are mentioned on almost every page. Let me name a few: the creation, fall of man, birth of Cain, Abel's murder, the flood, the ten commandments, Jephthah's sacrifice, Herod's slaughter of the innocents, the prodigal son, the betrayal of Judas, Pilate's handwashing, the Crucifixion of Christ, the field of Golgotha, etc.

The use of the thought and language of the Bible is so frequent as to establish beyond dispute that the mind of the great dramatist was thoroughly filled with the thoughts and teachings of the Scriptures. When quotations and paraphrases are placed side by side with the passages to which they evidently refer, we are at once filled with surprise at the debt we owe to the Scriptures for much that is best and greatest in Shakespeare. Many of the passages are literally quoted, but more of them are paraphrases. Shakespeare had taken their meaning into his own soul and then breathed them into the life and experiences of men and women as they are found in the world. Let me simply quote one or two examples of the many hundreds that might be given. In the trial scene of the Merchant of Venice, Portia says to Shylock:

"Though justice be thy plea, consider this:
That in the course of justice none of us should see salvation."

Note the parallel to Galatians 2:16: "By the works of the law shall no man be justified."

Compare Matthew 27:24 with the following passage from Richard III:

"How fain like Pilate, would I wash my hands of this most grievous murder."

When we come to consider Scripture themes in Shakespeare, such as conscience, justice, the Christian ministry, charity, death, eternity, forgiveness, attributes of God, gratitude, heaven, hell, judgment, mercy, prayer, praise, sin, redemption, salvation, atonement, etc., we must confess that a large volume is necessary to give the quotations.

Shakespeare's own personal faith was expressed briefly in his last will and testament: "I commend my soul into the hands of God my Creator, hoping and assuredly believing through the merits of Jesus Christ, my Savior, to be made partaker of life everlasting."

To this confession let me add the following extracts from his plays:

"The precious image of our dear Redeemer."

"The world's ransom, blessed Mary's Son."

"By the death of Him who died for all."

"I charge you as you hope to have redemption."

"By Christ's dear blood shed for our grievous sins."

"In those holy fields,

Over whose acres walked those blessed feet
Which, fourteen hundred years ago, were nailed

For our advantage on the bitter cross."

WINDFALLS.

"When the tree is shaken the rotten apples fall."

When religion is at a discount, and godliness is derided, then hypocrites and unsound professors desert the cause. It is astonishing what a little shake will get rid of the commonplace members of our churches. Let but a minister die or remove, or a couple of leading men fall out—off they go. A warm south wind, blowing from the cathedral, or the manor-house, or the public-house, and dropping a gentle shower of gifts, will cause many rotten ones to fall into the lap of bribery. Sound believers, who are full of life, and untouched by the worm of insincerity, hold to the Church of God in all weathers. May more of these be produced ever to God's glory!

Rougher winds than these try other professors. Stagnation in business, pressure for money, and the temptation to speculate fetch down many rotten Christians. The fashion of the world, the luxuries of life, and the habits of wealthy society also shake off others from their visible profession. When they fall the loss is all their own: the Church may apparently lose by their apostasy, but it is not a real injury; in fact, it may be in God's sight a gain to it. God thinks no better of a tree for being burdened with rotten fruit, nor of a church for being swollen in numbers by base pretenders.

Lord, make me true to the core, and keep me so.

POISONED MEAT.

"If a man had poison mixed with his meat, although the excellence of his digestion or the strength of his constitution might bear him through, yet he would run great hazard."

Thus a soul may survive great doctrinal error; it is possible for it to struggle out of the power of a strong dose of Popery, or Socinianism, or "Modern Thought;" but it runs great risks, of a character so violent that no one should lightly venture upon them. Our safest course is to take heed what we hear, and partake of nothing which comes from doubtful quarters.

O my Lord, do Thou feed me with the bread of life. Suffer me not to taste of Satan's dainties. I have no strength to spare. Forbid that I should test it by imbibing the deadly teachings of those who err from Thy truth.

C. H. SPURGEON.

THE EVERY-DAY SUIT.

"Godliness is not a holiday suit, but apparel that is for constant use."

This illustrates a very important truth. Some people seem to fancy that they can put their religion on and off as they do their Sunday clothes. Such religion is better put off once for all. He who is not godly every day is not godly any day. We should aim at serving God with all our hearts on the Sabbath, in songs, and prayers, and sermons; but if these are to be acceptable, we must also serve God on all the week-days in an honest, upright, holy conversation. True Christians will endeavor to make their houses temples, their meals sacraments, their garments vestments, and all their days holy-days. That profession which is merely on the surface, like the gilt upon the gingerbread at a country fair, is too poor a thing to enter heaven.

Lord, make me to wear Thy righteousness within me, and then I cannot leave it off. Make me like the king's daughter, "all glorious within." Weave Thy grace into the warp and weft of my being. Even on earth let me even be with the Lord.

C. H. SPURGEON.

GEMS OF THOUGHT.

January.

When Jesus is present, all is well, and nothing seems difficult; but when Jesus is not present, everything is hard.

February.

If thou wilt withdraw thyself from speaking vainly, and from gadding idly, also from hearkening after novelties and rumors, thou shalt find leisure enough and suitable for meditation on good things.

March.

Truth not eloquence is to be sought for in the Holy Scriptures.

April.

If now a little suffering make thee so impatient, what will hell fire do hereafter?

May.

If thou hadst a good conscience thou wouldst not greatly fear death.

June.

Why fearest thou to take up the cross which leadeth thee to a kingdom?

July.

Keep close to Jesus both in life and in death, and commit thyself unto His faithfulness, who, when all fail, can alone help thee.

August.

When a man beginneth to grow lukewarm, then he is afraid of a little labor, and willingly receiveth comfort from outward things.

September.

We often do a bad act and make a worse excuse. We are sometimes moved with passion, and we think it to be zeal.

October.

There is no creature so small and abject that it representeth not the goodness of God.

November.

Thou knowest well how to excuse and color thine own deeds, but thou art not willing to receive the excuses of others.

December.

Men soon change and quickly fail, but Christ remaineth forever and standeth by us firmly to the end.

THOMAS A'KEMPIS.

GENERAL SURVEY OF THE WORK OF THE LUTHERAN CHURCH OF AMERICA.

The year just passing into history has been in some respects a year of stress for our Lutheran Church. About two hundred thousand young men and a large number of young women have been withdrawn from our congregations to take their places in the military forces of the United States. In many cases these young people were some of the most active members of their congregation. Their absence is keenly felt, especially in the smaller churches and missions, and it will take a long time to train others to fill their places. Students preparing for the ministry have been among those called to the colors; and over a hundred ordained pastors have left their pastorates in order to serve as chaplains and camp pastors. Thus the scarcity of ministers, which was already great before the outbreak of the war, has been rapidly increased. Barely a dozen new missionaries could be sent out to the foreign fields owing to the disturbed conditions in Asia and Africa.

Suffering and distress in all the war zones have been so great that the demands on public charity have been almost continuous. While this great exercise in giving has had a beneficial effect on the public in general, it has had the unfortunate result of lessening the flow of voluntary gifts into the treasuries of the old, established institutions of mercy and missionary endeavor. The various boards, including even those of educational institutions, are facing serious deficits. The Church needs to awaken to a realization of the situation, and while "doing one thing not to leave the other undone."

Temptations to various sins have increased because of war conditions. Not only is this true for the young men in the camps, but for civilians as well. Unless the people watch and pray with great earnestness, the Church must inevitably be greatly weakened. Especially is it needful to remember that "the love of money is a root of all evil."

Such in brief are some of the difficulties under which the work of the Church has been carried on during the past year. All denominations have suffered more or less in the same way. But it has fallen to the lot of the Lutheran Church to pass through still another trial. Fanaticism and ignorance have not hesitated, here and there, to cast reproach and practice persecution on the followers of Luther; presumably because the great reformer was born and lived in a country with which we are at present at war. It was inevitable, owing to the weakness of human nature, that such things should occur; and, as was to be expected of a church which lays so much stress in its religious training upon the duty of obedience to lawful government, our Lutheran Zion has been and will continue to be uninjured by any calumny directed against her,—proving her loyalty to the flag whose protection she enjoys by deeds rather than by protestations.

In the face of every difficulty the Lutheran Church now, as ever, meets the future with the conviction and the prayer expressed in one of her favorite hymns:

"Jesus, still lead on,
Till our rest be won,
And although the way be cheerless,
We will follow, calm and fearless,
Guide us by Thy hand
To our Fatherland!"

"If the way be drear,
If the foe be near,
Let not faithless fears o'ertake us,

Let not faith and hope forsake us;
For through many a foe
To our home we go!"

The passing year also has witnessed many marks of inward and outward progress. Probably the most notable feature of the year's history is the growth of the spirit of outward unity among the Lutherans of America. Though in general united in doctrine, the Lutheran Church in this country is made up of racial elements from many lands and speaking many different languages. To amalgamate all these races into one English speaking Church body is not an easy task. The goal, however, is apparently not so far away now as it was a few years ago.

The various synods composing the General Council, the General Synod and the United Synod of the South have been voting on the question of merging the three general bodies into one organization, to be called the United Lutheran Church in America. With the exception of one Synod, the Swedish Augustana, the action taken was favorable to the merger. By this union a body numbering 757,886 communicant members and 1,030,358 baptized members will be formed.

The large Norwegian body which was formed last year by the union of a number of separate synods and which adopted the name: The United Norwegian Church of America, has dropped the word Norwegian from its title; and has appointed a committee to meet with the Augustana Synod, the Danish Synod and the Icelandic Synod in order to effect a union or federation of all the Scandinavian Lutherans in America.

Meanwhile the German Missouri Synod has dropped the word German from its title, and has made efforts to unite the Lutherans of more recent immigrations from Germany into one body. Others of the larger synods have also taken steps towards union. In all the foreign speaking bodies the English language is being adopted rapidly for instruction in the schools, for use in the periodicals and in the church services.

An item of more than passing interest during the year 1918 was the celebration of the one hundredth anniversary of the first Lutheran Synod west of the Alleghany Mountains, organized at Somerset, O., on Sept. 14th, 1918, and known to the Church as the Joint Synod of Ohio. Appropriate exercises were held at the meeting of the general body in August at Fort Wayne, Ind., and at Somerset, O., during the meeting of the English District in October.

Two other movements deserve to be noticed in this connection. An outgrowth of the work of the National Lutheran Commission for Soldiers' and Sailors' Welfare is the Lutheran Brotherhood of America, a federation of men's societies, in which are found representatives of all branches of the Church. This body has added over 100,000 new names to its membership during the year, and has raised over a million and a quarter of dollars for the care of Lutheran men in military service. Canadian Lutherans have also organized a Lutheran Brotherhood which is rapidly growing.

An outgrowth of the publicity work done during the year of the quadri-centennial celebration of the Reformation is: "The Lutheran Bureau, a National Medium for Information and Service." The object of this organization, which is briefly expressed in its title, is to furnish news of important events in the Lutheran Church to the public press and to church papers, also to compile historical data relating to our Church, to furnish lecturers who will be able to address public gatherings in the interest of the Church, and to serve as a medium of communication between all parts of our denomination.

The new hymnal and service book, which is to be the official Church Book of the United Lutheran Church of America, has now been published. This excellent production, which is the result of the labor of many years by some of our foremost Lutheran scholars and musicians, cannot fail to gain wide acceptance wherever English is used in our Church services.

The vast home mission work carried on by the various Synods continues to be fruitful; but if the great masses of unchurched Lutherans are to be gathered into the fold before it is too late our people must double and redouble their efforts in this direction. Only 3,630,000 out of 13,000,000 baptized Lutherans have been brought into membership with our Church in America. No other Church can care for these our "brethren in the faith" as easily or as satisfactorily as our own Church. It is not merely a sentimental appeal that comes to us, but it is our solemn duty,—our sacred trust,—to care for our brethren who are like sheep without a shepherd.

Among the unusual events that have occurred in the sphere of home mission work may be mentioned the appearance of a new Lutheran Church paper known as "Harangszó," published in the Hungarian language in Bethlehem, Pa., in the interests of the Slav and Hungarian mission work. The Rev. A. Bangarzone, an Italian Lutheran Missionary in New York City, who made a very popular translation of Luther's Catechism some time ago, is now translating Luther's hymns into Italian also. Lutheran work has been started among the Jews in Philadelphia, Pa. The Missionary, Rev. Heimann, is publishing a new Lutheran hymnal in Yiddish and Hebrew.

The foreign mission work of the American Lutheran Church is being carried on mainly through twelve Boards, who employ about 1,872 foreign and native Missionaries. Through the union of various general bodies in America a number of these Boards will be consolidated, thus bringing about important changes in the division of the fields, and increasing the interest of the Church in the foreign work by reason of the greater efficiency in the administration of the funds and the greater publicity that the work will receive.

The field of the Brecklum (German) Foreign Mission Society in India has been provisionally transferred to the American Lutheran Church. The Hermannsburg Mission Society's Foreign Field in India has been transferred to the Joint Synod of Ohio.

Among the Lutheran Missions in China there is a strong movement for the formation of a united Lutheran Church for the Chinese Republic. The Missions in and about the Province of Honan, several of which are supported by Lutheran bodies in America, have already adopted a constitution which inaugurates the first step in such a movement. These Missions have a common Theological Seminary, a common hymnal and a common Chinese Church paper and other religious literature.

The work in Latin America is receiving an increasing amount of attention. A board of nine members of the Lutheran Church of America has assumed charge of the Church work in the Virgin Islands. Ten thousand dollars have been appropriated for the support of the work and a superintendent to take charge of the field has been appointed.

The year 1918 marked the 175th anniversary of the beginning of permanent Mission work in South America. In 1743 a Lutheran Church was organized in Berbice, British Guiana, by a pious layman, Mr. Abbensetts. This Church is still in existence and is now, together with the Missions which developed out of it, in the care of the United Lutheran Church of America. Evidences of new life have encouraged the workers on this field during the past year.

The Pan-Lutheran Missionary Society operates successfully in Buenos Aires, and the Missouri Synod spends $25,000.00 a year on its Mission in Brazil, Argentine and Chile. The latter body has a Theological Seminary in Porto Alegre, Brazil.

The Lutherans in Porto Rico now have a Spanish Church paper, edited by the Missionaries.

In connection with the Inner Mission work of the Church we note expansion in a number of the institutions. The Wartburg Orphans' Home, known as "the million dollar orphanage" on account of its valuable property, located at Mt. Vernon, N. Y., has acquired nine acres of land, at a cost of $27,000.00. A new hospital has been secured by the Lutherans of Toledo, Ohio, at a cost of $150,000.00. A new Nurses' Home has been added to the equipment of the hospital in Fort Wayne, Ind., and a Nurses' Home has also been built at the Lutheran Hospital in Moline, Ill. The Home for Epileptics at Rochester, Pa., was able to erect its much needed new chapel during the year.

The Ministerium of Pennsylvania has adopted plans for a pension fund for its aged pastors. The Synod of Missouri is raising $250,000 for the same purpose, and the Augustana Synod's laymen are raising a sum of $500,000.00 to be added to its fund for superannuated pastors.

The Missouri Synod is taking a leading part in the establishing of hospices. It has institutions of this character and maintains hospice secretaries in fifty-six of the leading cities of the United States. The Walther League furnishes most of the funds for this work. The Inner Mission Society of Pittsburgh has opened a new hospice for women at a cost of $34,000.00.

The Missouri Synod leads not only the Lutheran Church but all churches in the United States in her work among the deaf mutes. Services are regularly held in sixty places for these afflicted ones. The past year has also been one of increasing activity in the important work of the Missouri Synod among the Negroes of the South.

Among the educational institutions Wagner Memorial College of Rochester, N. Y., has taken probably the largest forward step. The entire institution has been moved to new and more commodious buildings in Staten Island, N. Y. Carthage College, Carthage, Ill., has completed a fine $80,000.00 dormitory. Student pastors have been maintained at the Universities of Minnesota, Wisconsin, Illinois, Pennsylvania and Cornell. At the latter institution a generous donor has provided a home for the student pastor.

The compass of this review does not permit the enumeration of the new books and periodicals which have been given out by Lutheran authors and the Publishing Houses of the various Synods. The reading matter thus sent forth has been edifying and interesting in the best sense. In all of the publications we find the old Lutheran fidelity to the Bible as the Word of God, and to the Lutheran confessions.

Owing to the union of a number of the general bodies some of the familiar church papers will inevitably have to disappear in order that new and larger official organs may take their place. Thus, instead of the English papers formerly issued by the three Norwegian bodies which united last year, we now have one new paper known as: "The Lutheran Church Herald."

An evidence of the need felt by our leaders in the work of the Church for a deepening of their knowledge of the Bible and a refreshing of their spiritual life is the increase in the number of summer schools at our Lutheran Colleges. Here pastors and laymen meet for a week or more of study and devotional exercises which send them back to their duties refreshed in body, mind and spirit.

In the Bible lies the power which makes a church strong and flourishing. The best wish we can make, therefore, for our dear Lutheran Church is that she may ever find her "delight in the Law of the Lord" and that she may "meditate therein day and night."

THE LUTHERAN CAMP PASTOR.

By Rev. R. E. Golladay, Fort Oglethorpe, Ga.

I have been asked to write an article on the camp pastor for the Lutheran Year Book. I do so with some reluctance, primarily because I have never been given to saying much about my own work and experiences; a second reason for reluctance is that my work here has seemed, to me, to lack the elements of the unusual. Some men seem to meet the extraordinary thing at every turn (either in fact, or imagination). My inherent reluctance, in this instance, has been overcome by the thought that the Church at home has a right to know what her representatives are doing in the Cantonments; and whether or not they are meeting with any adequate measure of success.

In this article I shall write, not from the library, but from the field of work; not of theories, but of facts; not of supposed, but of actual conditions. If any of my conclusions are controverted, I shall not be offended, for there has been too much work to give one time for much theorizing about it. And, furthermore, I do not proclaim myself a veteran in the service; I have been, at this writing, but five months in the work.

It may be known to those who read this article that there has been some discussion, in certain quarters, as to the profitableness, or at least the advisability, of sending camp pastors, or any other religious workers, other than the regular chaplains, and Y. M. C. A. workers, into the Cantonments. We have our own well-defined ideas as to why this opposition, now well nigh obsolete, was ever entertained;—chiefly by those who would have no religion in the army, then by a few moved by unworthy motives of personal and organization glory and aggrandizement. After five months work as a camp pastor I have no hesitancy in affirming that there is a field, and a great field, for this kind of work. The Lutheran Church need have no fear that she can put too many camp pastors into the field. At the most we will be able to do but the least of what there is the opportunity of doing. And this is also the expressed conviction of the chaplains here, and of most of the Y workers as well.

Much of my work here has been done in the hospital. On my arrival here there were about two thousand patients under care in the various wards. During the past month (June) there was an average of 1,350 patients. In the five months of my service there have been considerably more than a hundred and fifty Lutheran boys in the hospital. Several who were there when I came have been but recently discharged. One is there still. I visited these men, unless only slightly ill, usually twice a week. The very ill ones sometimes every day. With these men, according to circumstance, and condition, I held a brief service, spoke a few encouraging words, gave them literature, wrote letters for them, brought them delicacies when I could, and attended to various matters for them as requested. Besides our own boys I have ministered, as opportunity offered, to scores of those not members of our Church.

The most difficult feature of the camp pastor's work is that of finding his men. This is a complex of camps, four in reality: Fort Oglethorpe, Greenleaf, Greenleaf Annex, and Camp Forest. Some men are in one of these camps for weeks before they know of the presence of the others. One of the young men from my own congregation, knowing that I was stationed at Fort Oglethorpe, had no idea, when he came to Camp Forest, that I was only two and a half or three miles away. When I was notified of his presence, it took three weeks for me to find him, and a process which involved writing to a camp in another state. It was all caused by his frequent transfer from one organization to another. I have trailed men, as opportunity offered, for a month, only to find, at last, that they were in some other camp. When one does find a man it is often under circumstances which prevent a very close personal touch. And, then, there are so many men to be seen, and so many things to be done, that acquaintance with the men cannot, usually, be cultivated to any great extent; and before one is aware of it, the men have moved on. In many respects the work here is like touching an ever flowing stream.

Since being in camp I have preached every Sunday and often twice. The services have all been held in the Y buildings and Fort Chapel. Only two services (communion) were announced as distinctively Lutheran. The audiences have run from 30 or 40 to 600 or 700. Some things besides indifference have worked against good Church attendance here. The men are often just as busily engaged a good part of Sunday as on any other day. But we have never spoken to more attentive men than here in camp. On the last Sunday of June we were announced to speak at Y-27. It being the last day of the month, the men were all called out for inspection. Not a man was in the building at the time for service. After a while they began to come in till 35 or 40 were present. They had been out in the hot sun all morning. They were tired and dusty. The time for service was a half hour past. The Y secretary said to me: What shall we do? Shall we have a service? I replied: We will put it up to the men themselves. In a few words I told the men I knew what they had been up against, and that if they did not feel like sitting through a service I would not think badly of them. And that I was going to put it squarely up to them. Every one who is in favor of having a brief service held up his hand. Every hand, but three or four went up with a will. We had a brief, spirited service, with a fifteen minute address, and the men gave the best of attention. A Lieutenant came up afterwards and said that his only regret was that the service was not longer.

Last Sunday we were assigned to Y-323, battalion 15, recruit section. The officers in this part of the camp were bringing in recruits in companies. They were marching about not far from the building. Sometimes they were singing songs, or shouting. But the large building where we were holding our service was filled. Scores of men were standing about the open doors and windows. The best attention was given. At the close of the service twenty-five men came forward to sign the war roll card, the pledge of which is as follows: "I hereby pledge my allegiance to the Lord Jesus Christ as my Savior and King, and by God's help will fight His battles for the victory of His Kingdom." On the other side of that part of the card returned to the signer are these two Scripture passages: "Everyone therefore who shall confess me before men, him will I also confess before my Father who is in heaven." St. Matt. 10:32. "The blood of Jesus Christ His Son cleanseth us from all sin." 1 Jno. 1:7.

Besides many others, three young Catholic men came up together to express their appreciation of the message. I met, at this service, ten young Lutheran men of whose presence in camp I had no previous knowledge. As I was leaving the building a young man came up, who said he had been in camp but two days, that he had not known of the service, but had been told, as he was passing, that the Lutheran camp pastor had preached, and that he wanted to meet me. He was very anxious to find out about future services. His pleasure in meeting a representative of his own Church was evident. This is but a single instance of what occurs again and again. At this same service a young man from Pennsylvania, who seemed to be rather German, asked me to write down my name, and the place where my text is found, so he could send them home to his people. Crossing the camp after this service I was accosted on the way by a young man from Minnesota. He recognized the uniform. And his first question was, as he reached forth his hand: "Do you represent the Lutheran Brotherhood?" He evidently is well versed in what is going on in the Lutheran Church of to-day; indeed, an ardent Lutheran young man. He had been, until his enlistment, an instructor in St. Olaf College. He, also, was very desirous of knowing how he could find out when and where our services would be held from time to time. We felt that this had been a profitable day.

If some one asks, what are the tangible results of our five months service in camp, I answer, unhesitatingly, and unabashed, they are comparatively few. But I do not believe that the work here, on that account, has been without value to the Church. Far from it. I know that the presence of the Lutheran camp pastor, and his services, has meant much to many of our Lutheran young men.

To summarize, I have visited hundreds of men in the hospitals, trying to carry courage and cheer to them; I have preached, so far, about two score times, to thousands of different men; I have sent out hundreds of invitations to our Lutheran men to attend these services, with fair results; I have helped to administer Communion to some scores of Lutheran young men; I have given elementary religious instruction to a few young men, though, because of their short stay I have not confirmed any,—deeming it better to lead men to know Christ rather than submit early to Churchly rites which may indicate to them that the work is completed. We have directed those whom we could to the Lutheran Churches in the City; the Missouri men to the Church of that Synod, the others to the mission of the United Synod. I have gotten scores of young men regularly to read Christian literature. To the present time I have gathered a list of 785 Lutheran men in camp. To many of these I ministered in the hospital, many I visited in their quarters, some I met only briefly at the various services, being able to give them, in addition to the service, only a hearty hand shake and a God speed. I feel that I have gained great value from this work myself. With God's blessing it shall not be without value to the men, and the Kingdom.

I wish yet to bear brief witness to the un-failing courtesy with which I have been everywhere received in camp. The treatment of the chaplains was most generous. They gave me the honor of election to associate membership in their organization. And wherever I went, or whatever favors it was necessary to ask, the prevailing spirit seemed to be that it was a pleasure to render service. There is a statement in the army regulations which says: "Courtesy among military men is indispensable to discipline." The army certainly has been well disciplined in the art of courtesy. And what is better, they have evidently found pleasure in its practice. There are many others whom it would profit, in this respect, if they could be made to take a period of service in the army.

My present period of service is rapidly drawing to a close. It is our hope that the cause for which our men have been marshalled may speedily be brought to a victorious conclusion. But if not, I trust that our Church will continue to spare no exertion or expense in keeping with the men in the Camps qualified and active representatives as camp pastors.

Her Batting Average. Magistrate: "The evidence shows that you threw a kettle at your husband."

Culpit: "It shows more than that, yer honor; it shows that I 'it 'im!"

PRAY.

- Pray! for earth has many a need.
- Pray! for prayer is vital indeed.
- Pray! for God in heaven hears.
- Pray! for prayer will move the spheres.
- Pray! for praying leads to peace.
- Pray! for praying gives release.
- Pray! for prayer is never lost.
- Pray! for prayer well pays its cost.
- Pray! for prayer is always power.
- Pray! for every prayer's a flower.
- Pray! for prayer the Savior finds.
- Pray! for prayer creation binds.
- Pray! for every prayer is gold.
- Pray! for prayer is joy untold.
- Pray! for praying frees from care.
- Pray! for Jesus joins your prayer.

THE WOMAN'S HOME AND FOREIGN MISSIONARY SOCIETY OF THE GENERAL SYNOD.

Two markedly significant events in the history of the Society influenced the activities of the year just closed. The Fortieth Anniversary Celebration, planned as a closing feature of the present biennium, called for the loyal fulfillment of the goals set for the biennium. Likewise, anticipation of the larger work possible through the combined energies of the greater Woman's Missionary Society of the United Lutheran Church in America, and the stimulation thus to be afforded, has quickened endeavor.

The organization of the twenty-fourth Synodical Society completes such organization in the General Synod.

The work receiving support from the Society has been prospered. Two such Home Missions have become self-sustaining, during the year, and the support of two new Home Missions has been assumed. Gratifying advancement has characterized all lines of work, in both India and Africa. One additional worker, Sister Jennie Larmouth, has been sent to Africa and three appointees, Misses Emma Baer, Alice Nickels and Anna Harrod, await permits to enter India for missionary service.

The following is a summary of the Society's membership and its contributions, for the year, October 1, 1917, to October 1, 1918:

CLERICAL REGISTER

List of Names and Post Office Addresses of Lutheran Ministers in the United States, Canada, etc.

The District Synod of each minister is indicated by an abbreviation. Where a name is followed by (n. a.), the meaning is, belong to no Synod. Where the noting (P. Em.) appears, it stands for Pastor Emeritus; being honorarily retained in the relation of pastor; (Prof. Em.) indicates one who has been honored with a vote of Professor Emeritus on retirement; and (ret.) means Retired. This publication will aim at appending to names special literary or honorary degrees only when well known, or properly attested, as having been conferred by legally authorized institutions of learning. Any persons desiring to use our invention of abbreviations for designating synodical connection, will please confer.

Ministers and others are respectfully requested to advise the Editors of any errors or omissions they may discover in the following list. Secretaries of Synods will favor us by printing in their minutes the given names of ministers.

Luther's Coat of Arms

AN INTERPRETATION

By SANFORD N. CARPENTER, D. D.

It was the custom among our forefathers for noble families to stamp upon the escutcheon, or shield, of the house some sign or symbol which represented a prominent characteristic of the family as a distinctive ensign or mark for the entire household. Such symbol, stamped or wrought on the shield, as well as on the plate, jewelry, tapestry and furniture of the household was known as the family coat-of-arms. It became a means of recognition and a bond of union for the fighting units of the household during all the fierce struggles of the middle ages.

While Martin Luther was engaged in his great and heroic struggle for the spiritual liberties of the world, it seemed to him most fitting that the family of God also should have some such sign or symbol of the relation, strength and unity of the people or family of God. Such a symbol, he believed, might be of great help in that great battle with the forces of ignorance and of darkness.

To get the proper material for his ensign Luther caught from the rainbow some of its glorious hues, and from the fields of nature some of their wonders. These he set together in a device which is both significant and eloquent.

This emblem has been doing service in the Church of Christ, which is called Lutheran, for almost four hundred years. Its variety of color and its significant arrangement have won for it more and more favor with the passing of the years. In mute eloquence, it has, during the course of centuries, preached many a sermon to the armies of the Lord.

Dr. Carpenter has arranged a unique entertainment, which can easily be presented by congregations of any size—its rendition requires only forty minutes. Eleven young people of sixteen or over make up the "cast." A large Luther shield and ten streamers are all the special decorations that are required.

The entire program is furnished in the form of a pamphlet of 24 pages with heavy paper cover. Price, 35 cents, postpaid.

Enjoying Church Work

BY REV. L. H. SCHUH, Ph. D.

IN this little volume the author shows how to become interested in church work and the enjoyment it affords to all who engage in it intelligently. It is a book that should be placed into the hands of members of church councils, church societies, Sunday-school teachers and in fact every one whom the church desires to enlist in its work and service. It is very attractively bound and can therefore be used for gift purposes.

"A stimulating little book which ought to be in the hands of every Lutheran church member. The 'workers' will read it with profit and find in it much encouragement. The 'jerkers' will be enthused into more sustained effort. Many a 'shirker' will be aroused and shamed into activity. As a gift book to Bible classes, Young People's Societies, or in fact to any organization of adults, or to individual members, this little book of eighty pages can be heartily recommended."

—American Lutheran.

Luther's Correspondence and Other Contemporary Letters

Translated and Edited by PRESERVED SMITH, Ph. D. and CHARLES M. JACOBS, D. D.

Volume I carries us through Luther's early struggles, 1507-1521. Volume II, from the Diet of Worms to the Diet of Spires, 1521-1530. Volume III, in course of preparation. Vol. II contains two letters hitherto unpublished.

These letters are Luther's innermost feelings and thoughts written by Luther himself. The other letters are written by both enemies and friends of Luther and the Great Reformation, noted and influential men of the day. Pope Leo X, Adrian VI, Emperor Charles V, Maximilian and others are included in the list of writers.

Volume II gives us a closer and more intimate knowledge of Luther's home and family life, thus teaching us to know Luther the Man, as well as Luther the Reformer.

There is no way in which we can get the true causes and effects of the great Reformation so well or from so reliable a source as from the personal correspondence of the men of the time—this is history itself and in its most interesting form.

Helpful and full notes explaining incidents, introducing characters and citing references help to make these volumes priceless books of reference as well as interesting, enjoyable and profitable reading.

Cloth bound. $3.50 a volume. Vol. I and Vol. II, $6.00.

Sermons on the Ten Commandments

BY REV. R. E. GOLLADAY.

THESE sermons are thoroughly Biblical, soundly Lutheran, unique in treatment and modern in application. They are fine examples of both the synthetic and analytic methods of sermonizing. The thought is profound, the treatment exhaustive and the style classically clear.

The sermons were preached, at the morning service, before the largest English Lutheran congregation in Columbus, Ohio. The attendance they called forth, and the sustained attention they received, is not only a testimony to the intrinsic worth of these particular sermons, but to the further fact that the people, our Lutheran people, at least, want something substantial in the sermons to which they listen. Our pastors can do nothing better than to preach occasionally on the fundamentals of the faith as set forth in our precious Catechism.

The Pope's Catechism

BY REV. J. SHEATSLEY.

IN this volume the author quotes verbatim from the official Catholic catechism, shows clearly what the church of Rome teaches and submits its doctrines and practices to the searching light of God's Word. A very helpful and illuminating book to all who want to know what the Catholic church teaches. Buy it for yourself. Buy it for Catholics who are about to join the Lutheran church. Buy it for Lutherans who are in danger of joining the church of Rome.

"We have often wondered where we could find a book of convenient size in which the errors of Rome were stated and answered from the Word of God. The defections from Lutheranism to Catholicism are very few, nevertheless there are enough to warrant the possession of a book that would show the peril of such a step. Pastor Sheatsley has given us a volume of that kind. If you want to know what Rome really teaches, and how to answer Rome, buy this book."—Augsburg Teacher.

Sermons on The Apostle's Creed

BY REV. R. E. GOLLADAY.

THIS is the second volume in the author's series of "Sermons on the Catechism." In this volume he devotes ten sermons to the first article, fourteen sermons to the second article and ten sermons to the third article of the creed, from which it will be seen that the subjects pertaining to the Christian faith have been covered quite thoroughly.

"They are homiletically arranged and logically developed. They show breadth of scholarship, a sympathetic insight, a Lutheran conception of revealed truth, originality and a style that is pleasing. The gifted author has given us a volume of unusual merit. We recommend it to our pastors. It must be that they preach on the Apostles' Creed. They will find valuable material here. It is a good volume for the laymen too."—Augsburg Teacher.

Guide to the Study of the Bible

For Sunday School Teachers and Bible Classes

BY REV. J. SHEATSLEY.

THE Sunday-school teacher's textbook is the Bible. The more he knows of the Bible and the more familiar he is with it the better prepared he is to teach. The "Guide to the Study of the Bible" ought to be of great help in this preparation. It shows him what the Bible is, how it came to be, its wonderful growth and history, what it contains, its purpose and plan, its great teachings, its power, how to study it and how to use it. The book is written in a style so popular that any one can get the meaning. No Sunday-school teacher, nor Bible worker or student can afford to do without it.

The book is recommended especially for Teacher-training and Bible Classes. There has been a strong demand for a work such as this for quite a while, as most books on the subject were either too technical or doctrinally unsound. The simple and popular, yet forceful and convincing style in which "Guide to the Study of the Bible" is written and the thoroughness with which the subject is treated will no doubt commend it both to clergy and laity. For Teacher-training and Bible Classes there is no better book to be had. May we send you a copy?

The book is durably bound in cloth and contains over 220 pages.

The Singing Weaver and Other Stories Hero Tales of the Reformation

By JULIUS and MARGARET SEEBACH

In this day when our men are showing their heroism, our boys and girls will enjoy reading tales of the heroism of some of the obscure friends of Dr. Luther. These ten stories are written about men, women and children of different countries and characters of whom we have rarely heard. The incidents are gathered from history, and are told in the usual wonderfully interesting, charming and sympathetic style of the authors, and will appeal to the old as well as the young.

Now when we hear so much of Luther and his associates, let us not forget the minor characters in that great upheaval, without whom the Reformation could never have been accomplished. They, too, dared everything for religion and the pure gospel truth, and this memorial to them will tell us how they did it.

ST. PAUL

BY R. C. H. LENSKI, D. D.

AN exegetical-homiletical treatment of some of the choicest texts from St. Paul's Epistles and from the Acts of the Apostles. Designed especially for a short series of evening sermons on the Life and Work of the Apostle or for a course of sermons on free texts. Each text is first submitted to a thorough exegesis, then follow homiletical hints and suggestions and finally five or six outlines.

The book contains material for upwards of twenty sermons based on the following nine studies:

- The Pharisee.
- The Christian.
- The Missionary.
- The Preacher of Justification.
- The Man of Love.
- A Minister of Ministers.
- The Apostle of Love.
- In Chains.
- Facing the End.

"It is a charming and suggestive book. Pastors will value it highly."—United Lutheran.

Funeral Sermons and Addresses by Lutheran Divines

COLLECTED AND EDITED BY

Rev. L. H. Schuh, Ph. D.

EDIFYING and comforting funeral sermons are not easy to preach, certain ones in particular, due to peculiar circumstances and conditions, often taxing a pastor's ability to the utmost in order both to be true to the Word of God and true likewise to the bereaved family. Here are found fifty-six different sermons for as many different persons, each funeral occasion with its own peculiar conditions and circumstances, moreover by many different authors, all of which should conspire to make this book a rich and usable fund for the busy pastor.

The book is made up in four parts: Part I contains thirteen sermons and addresses at the burial of children; Part II contains eight sermons and addresses at the burial of young people; Part III contains eighteen sermons and addresses at the burial of older persons; Part IV contains eighteen sermons and addresses at the burial of the aged.

Cloth, 433 Pages, 8 vo. $1.50 Net.

Each part can also be had separately, bound in black cloth, flexible, gilt edges. The titles are:

- Weep Not. (Part I) 75c Net.
- My Times are in Thy Hands. (Part II) 75c Net.
- Abide With Me. (Part III) $1.00 Net.
- There Remaineth a Rest. (Part IV) $1.00 Net.

The sermons and addresses are on a variety of texts by a variety of Lutheran preachers and for a variety of funeral occasions. You will want this work.

Sermons on the Eisenach Gospel Pericopes

BY REV. J. SHEATSLEY.

Editor of Lutheran Standard.

THE Eisenach Gospel selections have long been recognized as one of the finest pericope systems in existence. They will appeal to preachers looking for a new series of texts that follow the church year, and their unusual merit will at once commend itself to them. Rev. Sheatsley's volume of sermons on these excellent texts will be welcomed by all who have decided to use the Eisenach Gospel pericopes. The author of these sermons is known throughout the Lutheran Church of America as an able thinker, versatile writer and forceful preacher. His sermons are thoroughly textual, soundly Lutheran, highly practical and always quickening. In expounding a text and drawing from it the applications to present-day life, he shows the master hand in biblical interpretation and homiletical skill. His style is never vague, but always clear and to the point, vigorous and refreshing.

Durably Bound in Half Leather.

The Eisenach Epistle Selections

BY PROF. R. C. H. LENSKI, D. D.

A CLEAR, concise and scholarly treatment of this popular series of Epistle Pericopes. The author submits each text to a thorough exegesis in which he goes to the Greek original, consulting many prominent exegetes but always preserving a fine independence. The exegetical section is followed by homiletical matter containing suggestive thoughts, illustrative material and five or six outlines.

This is no book for the "lazy preacher," or the preacher who is looking for a "predigested sermon food" that will assimilate "while sleeping." It is a book for men who want to study, who are ambitious to produce what they can honestly call their own—men who have learned that "the sermon is the thing" and that faithful and diligent study alone will produce sermons that have the elements of personality and force in them. If you are that kind of a preacher you will want this book—you will want it now.

Durably Bound in Half Leather.

AMERICAN LUTHERAN LITERATURE

APOLOGETICS OR A SYSTEM OF CHRISTIAN EVIDENCE.

By Conrad Emil Lindberg, D. D., L. L. D.

A complete and up-to-date text-book in concise form; a time saver to get a plain answer on important religious questions; a handy book for pastors and religious teachers; a well-equipped arsenal with weapons and munitions in defence of faith; a book for the inquirer on interesting points in creation, Bible-problems, solution of evil, salvation. Christian Experience and the Great hereafter. Cloth, 216 pages. Price, $1.50, net.

OLAVUS PETRI, THE CHURCH REFORMER OF SWEDEN.

By Nils Forsander.

Dr. Forsander has drawn upon the latest researches of Schück and many other sources in the production of this short monograph, compressed into a small volume, but bulging with information and vital facts. While the author throws a spotlight on the central character in the Reformation drama, he reveals enough of the historical setting to make his book an epitome of the early history of the Church of Sweden. With illustrations. Price: Cloth, 60 cents; in Art Cover, 30 cents.

INSTITUTIONAL INNER MISSIONS.

By Rev. Victor J. Tengwald.

The subject is presented in the form of an Amplified Syllabus, comprising all branches of social service in the form of organized charity, rescue, reclamation and restorative work, and religious missions of whatever kind conducted in the home field. Paper, 25 cents.

DAILY MEDITATIONS upon Epistle Lessons of the Church Year.

By Rev. F. Hammarsten.

The meditations are based on brief passages of the gospel and epistles. They are real devotional helps. Price, cloth, $1.50, postpaid. Half Morocco, gilt top, $2.25, postpaid.

RAMAROW.

By Rev. C. F. Kuder.

This is a story of our Rajahmundry Mission, giving a vivid picture of what the gospel of Jesus Christ can accomplish in heathen lands regardless of obstacles placed in its way. It should arouse a greater and more intelligent zeal for our India mission. Price, boards, 30 cents, postpaid.

GLIMPSES OF THREE CONTINENTS.

By C. W. Foss, Ph. D.

This is a narrative of journeys by the author in India, the Bible Lands and Europe, interspersed with full historical data regarding the more prominent places. The book is profusely illustrated and will make a beautiful gift, especially for young folks. Price, silk cloth, $1.25, postpaid.

THE WAY OF LIFE.

An ideal gift for the members of the confirmation class, contains words of guidance to them selected from eminent Lutheran writers. Paper cover, 20c; bound in white cloth, 40c, postpaid.

THE LUTHERAN COMPANION

the English Organ of the Augustana Synod. Rev. C. J. Bengston, Editor.

It presents a weekly survey of the work of the Augustana Synod as well as the Lutheran Church in general. Price, $1.00 a year.

AUGUSTANA BOOK CONCERN, ROCK ISLAND, ILLINOIS

DEVOTIONAL READINGS from

Luther's Works for Every Day of the Year. By Rev. John Sander, L. H. D.

This is an excellent manual for devotions, especially adapted for those desiring a short form of service. Cloth, $1.00, postpaid. Half Morocco, gilt top, $2.00, postpaid.

LIFE PICTURES from Swedish Church History.

By Prof. Nils Forsander, D. D.

A book of biographies and character sketches of prominent men in the Swedish Church and vivid descriptions of outstanding events in Swedish Church history. This book should find its way into the homes of American Lutherans generally and General Council Lutherans in particular. Price, cloth, 75c, postpaid.

LUTHERAN HOME MISSIONS.

By Rev. J. R. E. Hunt, B. D.

In this work the author has gathered and classified the experiences of the Lutheran Church in Home Mission work. Every Lutheran ought to read the book. Price, cloth, $1.00, postpaid.

THE LUTHERAN SUNDAY SCHOOL HANDBOOK.

By Rev. J. R. Hunt, B. D.

A volume of 280 pages presenting in a compact form a complete Sunday-school manual, treating of the school, the teacher and his teachings and the scholar. It is a very useful book for the Sunday-school worker and others interested in the Sunday-school. Price, cloth, $1.00, postpaid.

THE ELEMENTS OF THE CHRISTIAN RELIGION.

By Prof. C. A. Blomgren, Ph. D.

This is a text-book in dogmatics briefly and concisely set forth and especially designed for use in our colleges. Price, cloth, 75c, postpaid.

BE THOU FAITHFUL.

By Rev. L. A. Johnston, D. D.

This book contains words of advice, comfort and cheer to the confirmed, making it an appropriate gift to the members of the confirmation class. Price, cloth, 40c, postpaid.

THE GRACIOUS WATER OF LIFE.

By Rev. Ira O. Nothstein.

A baptismal booklet to place in the hands of parents of newly baptized children. Brings to their attention: the meaning and value of baptism, the comfort of baptism to parents, the duty of proper home atmosphere, value of home training, the child's relation to Church and Sunday School, need of home training in religion and significance of baptism for Scriptural life of parents. The booklet also contains: Baptismal Certificate and Cradle Roll Certificate. The attractive cover and the fine illustrations scattered through the 48 pages of the book combine to make this a valuable gift to parents and children. Price, art cover, 25 cents; silk cloth, 50 cents, postpaid.

Doing Business with a Yard Stick

Stephen Girard—that hard fisted, hard hitting, straight thinking, merchant prince, banker, ship owner who still wields a considerable influence through the powerful banking institutions and charities that bear his name, never did business on sentiment.

He was not moved by any appeal save that of security for his investments and property. Stephen Girard transacted his business with a yard stick.

It is significant that this man, the first of our great National business men, should insure all his property in the North America.

And it was the confidence of these early leaders, who won during the days when nothing was certain, that has ever since been an Inspiration and an Incentive.
